Alderman Hughes offered the following resolution, which was seconded by Mr. Martin:

Resolved, That the city of Memphis shall provide for the payment of the interest on $23,000 of the bonds given the Memphis and Little Rock Railroad company, known as the Neary Yard bonds.

Alderman Hughes was of opinion that these bonds should be provided for by the city the same as any other bonds, whether the Navy Yard property would furnish the means or not.

Alderman Martin agreed in the correctness of this principle, but asked where the money was to come from, beyond the Navy Yard, to provide, not for $23,000, but for $300,000, the whole smount of the city's sebscription.
